“The Sheepdogs sound like all your favorite classic rock bands — the Allman Brothers, Crosby Stills Nash & Young, Grand Funk Railroad — and yet nobody sounds like the Sheepdogs.” - Rolling Stone, November 2022

(December 2, 2022) – Canada’s beloved Platinum-selling rockers The Sheepdogs are ushering in the holiday season with “I’m Ready For Christmas”, a new, original light-hearted ode to ‘the best time of year’. The song will be available to kickstart your holiday festivities today. Stream it HERE.

Says Ewan about the track, “I always wished there were more rock n roll Christmas songs. We figured the world could use a fresh alternative to the same old Christmas Carols so we decided to take a stab at creating our own. It was fun trying to come up with a song that we hope people will include on their Xmas playlists alongside the likes of Bing Crosby and Mariah.”

The Sheepdogs recently released their new studio album, Outta Sight, to international acclaim. In a feature interview published this week, Rolling Stone called the latest effort, “...meat n’ potatoes rock, shot through with the type of swagger and grit that once powered rock radio.”

This new track comes in the midst of the band’s 50+ date North American tour which included performances at Toronto’s Massey Hall and Montreal’s MTelus and several sold-out dates across North America. Tonight, they perform the 2nd of two back-to-back sold-out shows at Vancouver’s Commodore Ballroom. The Sheepdogs will spend the rest of 2022 in the space where they were born to be – on stage, performing to thousands of ebullient fans.
